	tastes, to talk about her past was for her a pleasure. Milagros needed more time to sort out her ideas, at the end there was a long list. We could only get to complete the subject of hobbies. The time was missing. The procedure did not give more work, talking about what one has experienced and has done was a fantastic experience since the participants were aware of having many talents and having experienced things that have formed them and have allowed a lot of transmission to their family, friends , students. The exchange with the conciliators was in a very pleasant atmosphere. Participants felt good to be listened to and were able to show that they can do many things. They were aware of their talents, skills and qualities that others may not have and that made them feel unique and special. The global discussion and feedback was the end of our participation. The resonance was very positive.
