Relevance of the project / strategy

The desired project goals were all achieved and presented in a very detailed and comprehensible way. The learning outcomes are very pleasant. The questions raised in the project evaluation for the dissemination and integration of the results could be eliminated in the long term. The project is an interesting exchange project that has produced convincing results. And this, as announced in the application, taking into account the different skills and competences of the participants. For the target group itself, but also beyond, it came to good learning results. The quantitative and qualitative indicators used to measure the results of the project are clearly formulated and fully achieved. The evaluation of the project is clear and unambiguous. The European added value was clearly achieved. The horizontal and sectoral priorities were clearly described and clearly taken into account in the project.

Quality of the project design and implementation

The quality of the individual materials developed, as well as the documentation of the project meetings and implementation steps of the project are convincing. The generated reports give a good insight into the project, the implementation of the activity and its results. The materials are publicly available and can be viewed on the internet platform and are available for download. The quality of the activities convinces on the different levels. Overall, the results are well documented and comprehensible. The European cooperation of the partners has been significantly increased by the project. The project meetings were held in the planned manner, the reports show the intensive and good cooperation. The created materials are available in all project languages.

Quality of the project team and the cooperation arrangements

The composition of the project team was interesting, lasting and clearly contributed to the added value of the project. The partners already knew each other from previous projects and could further intensify their cooperation through the project. The participating organizations and institutions have contributed intensively and professionally. There was a clear division of roles and responsibilities that everyone followed. The project partners and project managers have assumed clear responsibilities. The monitoring and project management is convincing.

Impact and dissemination

The impact on the project team itself is clear and very positive. The topic has a high sociopolitical relevance. The participants (specialist staff and volunteers) addressed and involved in each country show an impressive interest. The partners are a geographic and thematic combination of interest as different refugee realities could be discussed. The dissemination of the results was described and illustrated in detail in the final report. All participating organizations seem to use the materials beyond the project timeframe. All created materials are freely accessible and downloadable via the project website. The project results also seem to make sense for other organizations. With a very small financial contribution, this project has made a major contribution to European integration and good practice in the integration of refugees and migrants within Europe.

Overall Comment

The project is very appealing and has been implemented as planned. The partnership is very professional. The project is well documented and of high quality and can certainly be considered a good practice project for other project partners and ideas. ..."
